

‘What may seem a small matter to the management can be of great importance to some people living in a care home. Everyone has a different standard and taste. Knowing the individual and their ways is helpful.’

Our aims are:

- Delivering person-centred care
- Responding to residents’ past and present life experiences and their priorities for the future
- Meeting spiritual, cultural, social and sexual needs sensitively

www.myhomelife.org.uk