- Professor Janet Anderson is also a co-investigator for the ‘Empowering Better End of Life Dementia Care’ (EMBED-Care) research programme which began in January 2019. It is funded by ESRC-NIHR dementia research initiative and is led by researchers at University College London and King’s College London. It aims to develop new ways to improve end of life care for people dying with or from dementia (at any stage of dementia) and their carers in care homes.
